

W. H. Blankenship Kills Giles Walker And Admits Crime

FATAL SHOOTING SUNDAY NIGHT OVER ACCUSED'S POOLROOM—BLANKENSHIP SAYS WALKER MADE FIRST MOVE—INQUEST HELD TODAY.

Giles Walker, 32, a Southern Railway yard brakeman was shot and almost instantly killed at about half past seven o'clock yesterday evening by William H. Blankenship, pool room owner, in a room over his establishment at 203 lower Main street. Two bullets were fired into his body, one of these lodging in the body and the other in the brain, either one of which could have been fatal.

Blankenship was arrested soon after the shooting by Police Officer O. T. Cook, who was later assisted by Police Officer J. T. Clark. Taken to the courthouse, officers declare, Blankenship admitted the killing declaring, it is alleged, that he shot Walker and aimed to kill him fearing lest he suffer the chance of being killed himself. Blankenship declared that Walker made an ugly move for his hip pocket and that it was then that he shot. This statement is in conflict with the evidence of Sam Morton who, with Howard Blankenship, were present at the moment of the shooting.

At the coroner's inquest held this morning at the courthouse under the jury had viewed the remains at F. W. Townes' undertaking establishment it was revealed that the shooting was due to a debt of five dollars incurred in a game of cards which had been in progress shortly before the fatal affray. The men had been drinking wine and whiskey and, Police Sergeant J. L. Edwards states, Blankenship was under the influence of an intoxicant, but not drunk at the time of his arrest.

In a nutshell, Walker and Blankenship disagreed over a debt of five dollars and had some words over this. The disagreement was passed by, only to be renewed a short while later when Blankenship, it is said by one witness, drew a pistol and fired four shots. Two of these missed Walker, but two of them struck him. One traversed the flesh of the right forearm and penetrated the body, causing a mortal wound, while the other entered Walker's right cheek and lodged in the brain. Immediately after the shooting, Sam Morton ran downstairs and found Police Officer O. T. Cook, who at that moment was in the Ureeda luncheon room, turning in a periodic telephone call to headquarters. Cook ran back to the scene and found all of the men there and Walker gasping for breath on the floor. Within a few seconds Walker had died without speaking. Cook then got in touch with police headquarters and both Police Sergeant J. L. Edwards and Patrolman Clarke hastened to the scene and made the arrest.

Sleuth Slayer is Caught By Police

Luther, Boddy Sought by 40,000 Police Officers in New York for Killing Two Detectives Ls Found in Pennsylvania.

(By The Associated Press.)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Luther Boddy, a negro, alleged slayer of two New York detectives, was captured today. He was heavily armed but he surrendered without a fight.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 8.—Surrounded by New Jersey and Pennsylvania state police near Fallington, Pa., a few miles from this city, and with New York and Trenton police on guard, Luther Boddy, the young negro who is alleged to have killed two New York detectives Thursday night, was momentarily expected to be captured in a small area. Following a dash early today in a taxicab with a revolver at the head of the taxi driver, Boddy, attired in woman's clothing, eluded the vigilance of the New York police and made his way to the Hudson tubes terminal in Newark late last night where he engaged Adam Aduhato, a taxi driver of Newark, to take him to Jersey City. There Boddy is declared to have revealed himself to the taxi driver as "Boddy, the murderer," after having threatened him with a revolver and robbing him of about $175. All the money he had.

Aduhato, according to the story he told Cafe for Police Cullen here today, was compelled by Boddy to take him to the road in Philadelphia. The negro, he said, threatened him with the revolver and demanded speed, declaring that there was a reward of $10,000 for him and if he "had to go" he did not care who went with him. Boddy, according to the driver, said he wanted to get to Canada.

After passing Trenton, Aduhato ran on of gas. The negro compelled him to stop a car going toward Lang-

Salvation Army Drive Is Planned

The annual drive for funds by the local Salvation Army boys will take place from January 27th to February 3rd. The B. P. K. Elks and the American Legion are to sponsor the drive with ten thousand dollars as the objective. John W. Carter, Jr., commonwealth's attorney, and exalted ruler of the Elks, is chairman, and Dr. Julian M. Robinson, commander Danville post, American Legion, is vice chairman of the committee composed of prominent Danville business men and citizens. William Morrison is treasurer, and Envol John Eastwood is campaign manager. Captain E. G. Divelbiss of the local corps, is confident that Danville will succeed.

Many new features will be introduced in the campaign, and local Salvationists say that the campaign will make history in this city.

NAMED ON STAFF
Announcement is made from Richmond that Thomas J. Coles, of Chatham, has just been appointed to the staff of Governor Davis by the state executive, also Robert H. Stubbs, a farmer of Saluda. They will both have just three weeks as members of the staff, as the governor will go out of office on February 1st.

Judge Burks Soon To Resign Bench

Another Vacancy in Virginia Court of Appeals Pending—Congressman Harrison Grooming to Be Candidate.

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of Danville Bee.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—Congressman Thomas W. Harrison, of Winchester, will be a candidate to succeed Judge Martin P. Burks, of Lexington, who is now strongly rumored to be resigning from the Virginia Court of Appeals bench. Mr. Harrison will not be a candidate to succeed Judge E. W. Saunders, who died recently.

Judge Harrison's principal reason for not entering the race to succeed Judge Saunders is his belief that the vacancy should go to a man from the Southern counties, he asserted today, and not from the Valley which is now represented by Judge Burks.

It has been rumored occasionally for the past two years that Judge Burks intended to resign but he kept his word and said nothing. Now the rumor is about again and this time stronger and from better sources than before. Many prominent persons in Washington believe that Judge Burks will resign within two months.

Mr. Harrison, who made an excellent record as a judge on the Virginia circuit bench before coming to Congress seven years ago, will be a very strong candidate if Judge Burks resigns and will probably get the place. Had he chosen Mr. Harrison could have had the place on the bench now held by Judge Burks. It was offered to him six years ago by Governor Stuart when Judge George Harrison of Staunton resigned. But Mr. Harrison had just taken his seat in the House then and the democrats had control by only two or three votes. For him to have resigned then would have seriously jeopardized the control by his party. So he declined the proffer and Judge Burks was appointed.

Lester Stone Was Killed By Pistol Not Auto Crash

John F. Rison Laid At Rest

Despite the drizzling rain and a piercing humid atmosphere, the funeral of John F. Rison at his home, 1005 Main street, was very largely attended yesterday afternoon at three o'clock. The lower floor of the spacious home was crowded with people while the big porch and the grounds surrounding the home were filled with men from many walks of life who had turned out to do him final honors. Several hundred people attended the obsequies, there being an equally large attendance at the graveside in Green Hill cemetery. During the commitment service the street cars of the city passed as a mark of respect to the man who for years had been president of the corporation.

The services of the Episcopal church were read by Rev. J. Cleveland Hall, D. D., rector emeritus of Epiphany church, and Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor, the rector, who stood at the altar in the parlor of the home.

The floral display has been rarely equalled in fact the number of designs sent taxed the capacity of the lower floor and it was necessary to carpet the sweeping lawn in front of the home with such floral tributes as could not be taken within the house. Besides wreaths, crosses and crosses there were many large and handsome pieces sent by the directors of the corporation in the success of which Mr. Rison played such an important part. The American Legion sent a floral design representing the American flag, this as a tribute to the earnest and effective work Mr. Rison did during the war when he took part in the drive for the sale of war bonds and other government securities. The Rotarian organization also sent a charter member of this organization and is the first broken piece in Danville Rotary wheel. More than 122 designs were in evidence, some of the larger displays being removed to the grave later in trucks, being too large to place in the automobile afforded the flower bearers.

The cortege to the cemetery pursued a route down Main street past the Jefferson street and thence to Lee street. This was formed in a light rain, but it did not prevent the hundreds who had gathered in front of the home from going to the cemetery and witnessing the final ceremony.

Mr. Rison's funeral was held at the cemetery at 10 o'clock. The pall bearers were: B. Talley, A. D. Starling, J. H. Schoolfield, J. M. King, A. H. Taylor, W. B. Hill, M. O. Nelson and C. L. Beal. The honorary pall bearers were: James I. Pritchett, Sr., J. P. Swanson, James M. Seeger, Jr., W. R. Mitchell, H. R. Fitzgerald, W. W. Williamson, R. A. Schoolfield, E. G. Mosley, O. W. Dudley, R. V. Booth, D. Price Withers, Mayor Wooding, W. B. Watkins, J. T. Catlin, W. W. Berkley, P. H. Jones, George W. Robertson, W. B. Fitzgerald, J. T. Clement, Joseph Whithead, L. Herman and Harden Hairston.

BALL IS EXTRACTED FROM ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER'S BRAIN AT REIDSVILLE—OFFICERS SAY SHOTS WERE FIRED AT THEM FROM AUTO AND THAT THEY RETURNED THEM FREELY.

Lester Stone, alleged bootlegger who late on Saturday evening ran into a trap set for him by the police of Reidsville, N. C., about four miles north of that town, was not killed primarily by his car turning over, but was shot to death by one of four officers who fired several times at the fugitive liquor handler. Late on Saturday night a pistol bullet which entered Stone's head from the rear and lodged under the frontal bone was removed by Dr. M. H. McBride, Reidsville who felt compelled to make an autopsy in order to fill up intelligently the necessary death certificate. In addition to the fatal injury caused by the pistol bullet Stone's neck was broken, evidently by the weight of the car.

With Stone, in the car said to have contained over twenty gallons of liquor most of which was spilled out in the auto crash, were two other men. The names of these men are said to be known to the Reidsville officers who are withholding them until they can be sought and placed under arrest.

Enquiries from Reidsville, N. C. today revealed that no legal developments have followed the shooting. It is claimed by the officers that the men in the car opened fire at them first whereupon they shot back in retaliation. It was one of these shots which penetrated the rear curtain and found the head of Lester Stone, who was killed at the steering pillar of his car allowed the car to run amuck an dto turn over by the roadside. The two other men who appear to have escaped the hail of bullets were evidently flung from the car not too badly hurt to crawl to a place of hiding, there to remain until the officers had gone.

Washington Belle Bride of Lt. Tobin

Brief announcement was received by telegraph Saturday of the marriage yesterday morning in Los Angeles, Calif., of Miss Carolyn O'Rourke, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rourke, of Washington, D. C., to Lieutenant Robert Gibson Tobin, U. S. N., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emmett Tobin, of Danville, Va. Lieutenant Tobin who is in command of the destroyer Melvin, of the 16th naval division, now at Coronado beach, Calif. met his bride, who was accompanied by her mother, in Los Angeles and the marriage ceremony was performed in one of the churches. Immediately after the wedding Lieutenant Tobin and his bride went to Pasadena for the week-end and after a few days will report to his division.

The bride is the daughter of a man who has won distinction as an engineer by the construction of two of the greatest pieces of work in this country—the Galveston sea wall and the Roosevelt dam in the Colorado river, two stupendous undertakings. She is a young woman of culture and social charm and has been greatly admired.

Lieutenant Tobin has spent his life in Danville since infancy received his preliminary education here and was a student at the Virginia Military Institute when he won a cadetship at Annapolis from which he was graduated in 1917 and immediately entered the active naval service and has been on the active list ever since. He is a fine student and a brilliant mathematician, having won a percentage of 100 in that branch at the V. M. I. Since entering the service he has made an honorable and highly creditable record.

The marriage is the happy culmination of a pretty little romance.

SMITH—SMITH

Miss Olivia Parkinson, who has been visiting friends in Tampa, Fla., is expected home today.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germs. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, and other forms of throat and lung trouble. Creomulsion contains in addition to creosote other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold no matter how long standing is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist—adv.

Develop Rural Life of Virginia

What is characterized as "a statewide campaign in which all agencies and forces in Virginia will be mobilized for the enrichment and development of rural life," is to be undertaken next May and will continue through that month, according to announcement from Richmond. This was decided on at a conference at the home of Mrs. B. B. Munford in that city.

Local organizations are to be formed everywhere to co-operate with the central organization "to educate and aid Virginia's country folk to promote their community, health, schools, churches, business and life. The Co-operative Education association of which Mrs. Munford is president will direct the movement, and a General Committee of Educators headed by State Superintendent Harris Hart will be enlisted in planning and carrying out the program.

DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT

Tom Thumb Wedding and Dancing Diversions Please.

A double bill embracing "The Tom Thumb Wedding" and a dancing diversion deriving its title from Edgar Allan Poe's familiar poem, "The Bells," was staged at the Municipal Hall last night by Miss Alice Boatwright, brilliant instructor in aesthetic dancing and in dramatic production, to the pleasure and even the delight of a large audience. Miss Boatwright's own specialty dance, interpreting "jingling bells," in which she wore a beautiful sleighing costume, was a feature of the performance and shared honors with the admirable production of the juvenile play by the little ones. The play, it need hardly be added, was the work of H. C. Ficklen and sparkled with cleverness and wit.

The curtain-raiser was "The Tom Thumb Wedding" in which the little participants, in charming costumes enhanced by their quaintness in some cases, trod with rhythmic steps down the aisle and upon the rostrum where an altar had been erected with a white floral drape. In all other respects the stage had been set as a church interior, as was revealed when the curtains were drawn. A vested choir of boys, some of them tiny little toddlers of tender years, advanced to the rostrum and in time to the music sought the choir loft, where their "childish voices delightfully rendered. Here comes the bride." As each of the participants descended the aisle in the order of precedence of introduction and pleasure were evoked and it must be said that the tots were all dressed for their roles and assumed them as seriously as adults might have done at a real wedding.

At the altar, where the bride, was garbed in clerical cloth and exhibited all the gravity of a D. D. at a fashionable wedding, taking her role with a seriousness and solemnity of demeanor which enhanced the effect. Her little bridegroom, a beautiful little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rendleman, was the bride, and was dressed faultlessly and charmingly for the part. All eyes were focused on her and all faces were beamed as with musing steps she went down the aisle. She was accompanied by a maid of honor, Miss Louise Bruce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Crowell, the embodiment of grace in movement and charmingly costumed for the role. She shared with the bride the honors of the occasion. As the bride on the arm of her father, personated with winsome grace and dignity by Cordelia Penn as "bride's father," reached the altar, the bridegroom, personated by little Mary Green Harrison, lovely little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harrison, advanced from the left of the rostrum on the arm of his best man, Kerr Harris aptly and charmingly garbed as best man. Tiny Frances Hall as ring bearer bore the golden symbol of marriage on a white pillow with all the dignity and gravity of a "sure-enough" wedding. Little Helen Lantille as the bride's mother was faultlessly groomed for the part. Vinna Farrell took the role of the "maiden aunt" and portrayed the part with fidelity.

The chorus choir consisted of Pat Watson, Tom Watson, T. A. Fulghum, Jr., Matthew Callahan, James Bagby, Randolph Meade and Lewis Roach, and none met the requirements of their role better than did these.

Guests at the wedding included the following from the land of story-book and make-believe:

Mother Goose Juliet Catlin
Miss Muffet Jean Harrison
Jack Horner Jim Catlin, Jr.
Boy Blue Fenton Day
Bo-Peep Florence Day, ex
Baby Bunting Elsie Day
Mistress Mary Mary Withers
Blinkin' James Jennings
Nod Bill Westman
Queen of Hearts Garret Watson

The dances of the "Bells" followed, the "Fool Bells" by little Misses Cordelia Penn and Helen Lantille in courtly costumes being the opening dance. This was followed by a waltz, and the costumes were highly artistic.

The "Wedding Bells" presented nine misses as follows: Anne Withers as bride, Elizabeth Owens as groom, Misses Margaret Withers, Virginia Newsum, Anne Ferree, Emma Starnes, Suzanne Holland, Evelyn Jordan and Frances Westbrook.

Miss Elizabeth Taylor and George Kesler in a delightful duet personating the telephone bells, their love-song being sung theatrically over the phone, as realistically represented by the telephone stands rigged up for this number. They had to respond to an encore.

Miss Boatwright herself did "jingling bells" in a charming, graceful manner and in costume which rang in rhythm with the poetic motion. She won an enthusiastic encore.

The Curfew Bells introduced little Misses Lois Withers, Olga Heard, Cordelia Penn, Helen Lantille, Vinna Farrell and Virginia Watson, personating the nocturnal bats in their dipping and diving flight.

Mrs. J. Thomas Watson and Mr. E. Vaughan did the piano work, and Mrs. George Ivy had the direction of the company in which she scored handsomely.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT ON DEATH OF JOHN RISON BY AMERICAN LEGION

At a special called meeting of the Executive Committee of Danville Post of the American Legion, presided over by Dr. J. M. Robinson, that committee last night adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas it has pleased a Providence to remove from the City of Danville one of its best known and most beloved citizens John T. Rison, and whereas during the period of recruiting and afterwards throughout the war with the Central Powers, Mr. Rison was constantly and persistently interested in the welfare of those who went from Danville to take an active part in the great contest at arms which interest he manifested in innumerable acts of thoughtfulness and kindness so characteristic of his entire life and performed with that gentle spirit of modesty and good taste so familiar to all who knew him and without seeking or desiring credit or acclaim for his conduct.

And whereas at the close of hostilities he was the first Liberty Loan Campaign and in other war activities his services his genius and his talent was unselfishly and untiringly devoted to the service of his country most effectively and successfully.

And whereas at the close of hostilities and the return of the soldiers to their homes his interest in the young men of the community who had given their services in the armed forces of this country was displayed in the First Liberty Loan Campaign and in other war activities and in his own quite evident interest in their welfare and progress an interest demonstrated to many service men unknown to the public and even to his own friends.

Therefore Be It Resolved by the Executive Committee of the American Legion that in his death this community has lost a valuable public spirited citizen who labored long and well for his native city and whose strength of character, manliness, sweetness of temper, love of fellowmen and willingness to serve others rather than himself is an example to all who have the privilege of knowing him.

Be It Further Resolved that the following be published in the local papers and a copy sent to the family of our deceased friend:

Woman Questioned In Murder Case

ATLANTA, Jan. 7.—Taking a hand in the investigation of the killing here Thursday night of J. Russell Compton, business man and social leader, the solicitor general's force today questioned a woman whose name they withheld, while detectives discovered that the small automobile pistol found by Compton's side was sold by the manufacturer to a hardware dealer in Shreveport, La., in September 1920.

During the day's inquiry the search for a man described as a "shabby stranger" who was seen around the factory about the time Compton was shot while backing his machine out of a garage was ended when the man came forward and satisfied officials of the company that he really came there to meet his wife, a worker in the plant. Statements that Compton had said shortly before his death that a man with whom he had been in litigation had threatened him also were being investigated, and members of his family announced they believed robbery was the motive.

Varnish Put in Communion Cups Poisons 10 Elders

Jug Supposed to Contain Wine Filled With Varnish—One After Another Poisoned Men Collapse While at Altar Rail.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 8.—Ten elders of the Seventh Reformed church here were poisoned at the morning service today when they drank varnish that had been poured into a communion cup in the belief it was sacramental wine. Two of the elders were said to be in a critical condition.

The church recently had been repaired and in the storeroom where the sacramental wine is kept in a jug several jugs of varnish used in decorating had been stored. One of the officials of the church is said to have mistaken the varnish for wine when he filled the communion cup during the church service.

The 10 elders of the church were the first to drink the communion wine. As the cup was being passed to other members of the congregation the elders were seen to fall to the floor. Many of the church members became panic-stricken and rushed from the edifice. A physician was summoned and the stricken men taken to hospitals or their homes.

The poisoned elders were J. H. Vanderwolf, John Riedwald, S. Folk, Arthur, Henry Teckmair, John R. Riedwald, R. Drun, J. Hollenberger, C. Hemstro, R. Dofco and H. Hoggswors.

The communion cup was passed to the elders immediately Rev. D. A. Vanlummel, the pastor had completed his sermon. Elder Riedwald was the first to fall. The other elders collapsed in rapid succession. Folkert was said to be in the most serious condition of any of the 10.

JUST DRAGGED SO WEAKENED
Florida Lady Was In Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardui Helpful and Got Well

Blountstown, Fla.—In explaining how she found Cardui so helpful during her change of life, Mrs. Ella M. Bailey, of this place, said:

"I became so weakened that I was an effort to get to bed. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up."

"I just dragged and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—so weak I couldn't get about. It is a most miserable and such a horrible experience."

"I would get depressed and out of heart."

"I began to feel after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all over for this matter a person says."

"I had heard of Cardui and thought I would try it. A neighbor had told me it was good for me, and I decided to try it."

"I took one bottle of Cardui, then I saw I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up."

"Gradually the nervousness left me and I began to feel better. I was so weak and I began to feel better. I was so weak and I began to feel better."

"I took one bottle of Cardui, then I saw I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up."

W. H. Blankenship Kills Giles Walker

revealed neither pistol nor knife. The city coroner was called at once and he reached the scene. After making a preliminary examination of the body he ordered it removed to an undertaking establishment, where he later made a more minute examination of the wounds and set a coroner's inquest for 9:30 this morning.

The coroner's inquest was presided over by J. P. Wells, J. B. Ramsey, Tom Shepherd, H. T. Guarrant, C. T. Patterson and J. A. Flynn. The jurors viewed the body and then repaired to the office of the high constable, where the following evidence was heard:

Sam Morton, who was one of the men present at the time of the shooting, appeared to be the most vital witness at the coroner's inquest.

Morton testified that he was with Blankenship, Giles Walker and Howard Blankenship, had been in the room for some little time talking, occasionally taking a drink of whiskey or wine, which they had. Later a game of cards was begun and from Morton's testimony, it was what led up to the actual killing.

Morton's testimony in part follows: "We were all sitting around talking and one of the party suggested a little drink and the bottle of wine was opened. Later we opened up a quart bottle of whiskey and all of us took a drink. Walker then said that he had to write a letter and sat down at the table to do so."

Later Howard Blankenship came up and joined the party."

Morton testified that it was then but a short time when a card game was suggested and all four of the men sat down at a table in the center of the room. He said in a few minutes he and Howard Blankenship quit leaving Walker and Will Blankenship to play alone. Howard Blankenship left the room immediately after quitting the game and said he was going to use a telephone.

Morton said that it was while Howard Blankenship was out that Walker and Will Blankenship, who were still playing, began an argument over a $5 debt. Walker claimed Blankenship owed him $5 and Blankenship said he did not. Howard Blankenship came back and the argument seemed to have quieted down. In a few minutes he testified, Blankenship suddenly became angry again and stated that Blankenship grabbed a gun. Walker then was killed.

Morton said that he was not sure of the exact time when the shooting occurred, but he was sure that it was after midnight. He said that he was not sure of the exact time when the shooting occurred, but he was sure that it was after midnight.

SOCIETY JOINS GRANDMA WALSH IN "JOY" DANCES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Grandmother dancing from sheer joy has put new life into the most exclusive set in Washington. She is Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, and the occasion for her exuberance of spirits is the arrival of the third one-hundred-million-dollar baby to the Edward B. McLean—this last baby being the first little girl of Mrs. Walsh's only daughter, Evelyn B. McLean.

MRS. THOMAS F. WALSH

Every evening from 8 to 7 Grandmother Walsh, with some of her most intimate friends, trips the light fantastic in the Walsh home ball room.

Mrs. Walsh, lithe and graceful as a girl, greets every guest with a cordial handshake and a radiant smile.

"What a beautiful ballroom!" one involuntarily exclaims. "And to think of its having been closed for 10 years!"

"Yes," Mrs. Walsh replies. "I have not opened it since the death of Mr. Walsh until this year."

Violin and piano duet, "Moonlight on Kalua."

Mrs. Walsh starts the fox trot with her partner, the dancing master, who has just returned from Paris with the latest steps. The dancing master's wife is also regularly engaged to instruct the gentlemen present.

Colonel Horton, who has just had the Distinguished Service Medal conferred on him, drops in. So does Senator Walsh of Montana.

Senator and Mrs. Capper enjoy an hour's recreation. Several other men, all having come direct from the office in their business suits, and a group of ladies fortunate in being numbered among Mrs. Walsh's intimate friends, enter into the spirit of this informal hour before dinner.

The tango begins. The hostess resigns her partner to a guest, while she moves about, chatting with other onlookers.

For Mrs. Walsh dances only with the dancing master, thereby showing no favoritism.

These informal gatherings of from 50 to 60 intimate friends are varied now and then by dancing parties of from 500 to 600 guests.

The first, on the night following Christmas, was for Princess Bertha Cantacuzene, the granddaughter of Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, and great-granddaughter of the late General Grant.

As the car neared them, they declare one of the men in the liquor car opened fire at them. Several shots were fired but none of the officers were hit. They jumped to cover and their pistols then began a chorus of reports as they were emptied at the speeding car. Suddenly the light from the fugitive car was seen to go out of the road. There was a crash and by the time the officers cautiously approached the scene of the wreck, two of the car occupants had gone.

While Stone lay dead under the wreckage, it was thought at the time that the accident had caused Stone's death.

Examination of the car showed that the two front tires were "punctured" and one rear tire found by a bullet, this showing that there was a passage of shots before the liquor car had got by the second group of officers.

Stone's body was removed to his home in Schoolfield and the funeral took place yesterday.

At Reidsville, this afternoon, it was said that no further investigation of the shooting was planned, the statements of the officers having satisfied the legal authorities and public sentiment.

Japanese Customs To Be Discussed
The Woman's Missionary Society of the Jefferson Avenue Christian church will meet with Mrs. J. E. Mues, 327 West Main street, Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. The subject is "Japan."

Linked with it is the old question of "spheres of influence" in itself a source of considerable controversy.

Lester Stone Was Killed by Pistol, Not Auto Crash
that on Saturday evening the Reidsville police had authentic information Stone, with a load of liquor, was destined to pass down that road. Jackson gathered his officers. He and Officer Carroll took up their position after dark at a point of vantage on a rise in the road where they could see the winding road for a distance of three or four miles. A few hundred yards further down the road towards Reidsville were the other officers. They were to double check the arrest, in other words, if the liquor car got by Carroll and Jackson they were to stop it when it reached them.

One car drove into view and was stopped. It proved to be innocent people who were allowed to proceed after satisfying the officers that there was no liquor in the machine. A short while later another headlight drove into view and the officers turned on their car headlight and stood in the road signalling to the driver to stop. The car was driven by Stone, the man sought, and in it were two others. Stone slowed up and Jackson flashed a light on his badge. This he is quoted as saying was the signal for Stone to "step on the gas" and the car roared away down the road. Seeing the prey escaping Jackson took out his pistol to give the pre-arranged signal to the officers further down the road to get busy. He fired one shot at the rear of the car. The other group of officers quickly took their cue. They stepped out into the road and signalled the machine to stop.

Police Officer O. T. Cook, who made the arrest, then took the chair and told what Blankenship had related to him. Cook said that when he entered the room he found the body of Walker lying beside the bed with the head against the wall. He was not dead then but life left him in a few moments. The officer then related what the alleged slayer told him of the killing. Blankenship stated to him that Walker called him up over the telephone about 11 o'clock on Sunday morning and asked him if he would come down. This was agreed to and Walker was soon there, bringing with him what was said to have been a quart of wine. There the two spent the afternoon. Howard Blankenship and Sam Morton arriving not very long after Walker, and there in Blankenship's room on the third floor of the building, the four spent the afternoon talking, telling jokes, taking a drink of wine or whiskey occasionally, finally including in a game of cards which seems to have started the trouble. Late in the afternoon Blankenship stated that he asked to take a bath and asked the other three to wait. However, all of them remained. Cook stated that Blankenship told him that first Morton and Walker got into an argument, but this seemed to be of a friendly nature. Then Blankenship, the accused, and Walker started an argument but the accused did not say what it was over. He did not mention the drinking or the card game. He said that he knew little of how it started but during the row Walker called him a "bar" and put his hand into his hip pocket as if to withdraw a pistol. Blankenship then told the officer the latter stated that he thought that Walker was in for him and when he reached for his pocket in the manner he did, he (Blankenship) believing his life to be imperiled, shot Walker. He was then alleged to have told the officer that "Yes I shot him and I want to do it, because I thought he was going to kill me."

The officer related other details in connection with the killing and the condition in which he found the room. He said there was evidence of four shots having been fired, at least two having entered Walker's body, and two more piercing the wall. He said that there was no one in the room when he arrived, Morton having come for him and the Blankenships in the hallway. Walker was searched and no weapon of any kind was found in his pocket. A watch and $20 in currency was found on him.

There were all the witnesses and coroner's jury after deliberating for only a few minutes returned the following verdict: That Walker came to his death by pistol shot wounds at the hands of W. H. Blankenship. Blankenship, it was learned today, is under indictment in the corporation court, charged with operating his place of business in violation of the law. He is under bond for appearance in court next month. Several months ago when, believing that he was attacking Police Officer Mayberry, he struck City Fireman E. R. Red following which there was an exciting chase down Main street.

Walker, who resided on Cabell street, and who has a wife and a child, will be buried from his home tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

DE VALERA AN OBSTACLE TO IRISH PROGRESS.

Eamon de Valera has lost his cause in Ireland through sheer stubbornness. Judging from the manner in which the Anglo-Irish treaty has been received throughout the Emerald Isle since ratification by the Dail Eireann, the first president of the Republic, has wrecked his hopes on the rock of ambition and at present it seems doubtful if he will ever command the situation that he did until the Dail voted against his persuasions. De Valera has resigned from the presidency and at the same time has presented the resignation of the members of his cabinet. He now proposes to go before the people, hoping, doubtless, that faith in the man by the Irish voters will triumph over faith in the treaty and that he will be restored to the presidency on a platform of ultra independence. It is worthy of note here that De Valera's extraordinary aggressive fight for the rejection of a treaty which recognized the sovereignty of King George came within an ace of succeeding. Early in the Dail deliberations, it was conceded that there would be a safe majority for treaty acceptance. On the final vote it was evident that the president had made sharp inroads into the opposition but not sufficient to win his cause.

The slender majority for the treaty presents a dangerous situation in Ireland. If the Dail vote represents Ireland today it is a country divided up to itself, starting on a new phase of its troubled history as an independent unit with half-hearted encouragement which will militate against co-operation and ultimate success. De Valera has declined to accept the advice of his counselors in accepting the treaty reservedly, thankful for a small mercy. It would have been the better part of wisdom to accept with good grace a conclusion which would have gone a long way towards harmonizing Ireland with a view to using the treaty conditions as a basis for achieving later the ideals for which the retired president is working. Today the treaty is not a harmonizing factor, but is destined to sow the seeds of dissension which can do no more than retard Irish progress.

THE SUPREME COURT VACANCY.

(Henry Bulletin.)

The legislature which convenes the 15th day of January will have the task of selecting a successor to the supreme bench of the State of Virginia. There are at least six able lawyers who have been named for this high judicial post. Among them are Judge Harvey of Winchester, Judge Stables of Roanoke. While the bar of this country has endorsed Judge Harvey and out people generally will heartily approve that endorsement, it has been rather hard for many of us in this country to determine whether we would prefer the selection of Stables or Harvey.

Both, by training and legal learning, judicial pose and high character, are eminently fitted for a place on the supreme bench and would measure up in all respects to the high standard which has been set for the post of that court. Both are persons well known to the people, and both are men of high character and high personal standards. In this connection Judge Stables is the son of a resident of Martinsburg for several years, of Judge Harvey is a native of Roanoke. Both were born in Pittsburgh, and both are graduates of the University of Pittsburgh. The fact, however, that Judge Harvey is a native of Roanoke, and that Judge Stables is a native of Martinsburg, is a distinction which is not a factor in the selection of a successor to the supreme bench of the State of Virginia. It is for this reason that the legislature will have the task of selecting a successor to the supreme bench of the State of Virginia. It is for this reason that the legislature will have the task of selecting a successor to the supreme bench of the State of Virginia.

DRINKER BRANCH, January 9.—(Clare's Bee.)

Ed. Walton was drumming up tobacco along the edge of Charlotte county, and while in the neighborhood on a Sunday he attended one of these "all-day" parties, giving with dinner on the ground" affairs which afforded a fine opportunity to meet the people. The long-winded preacher, as Ed. tells it, had a lot of notes from which he developed the sermon and as he rounded out each phase of his subject he would consult this memoranda and pick up the thread of the discourse. Oftentimes he would be unable to locate instantly just the lead that he wanted, and he had a way of saying "but-and-er-a" to fill in the pause. Sitting well up front was a toe-headed boy who had become more or less restive as the hours wore on, his only diversion was watching the progress of a spider which was running up and down his web just over the parson's head. Finally the spider swung directly across the preacher's vision and as he struck at it the wind scattered some of his notes. In getting started again he had some difficulty in connecting up the theme and, as usual, he filled in with "but-and-er-a" several times. The boy squirmed in his seat intensely interested in the situation, and finally blurted out: "Mister, your 'but-and-er-a' just blew out the window!"

PRICE TO DRAFT PLAYER FROM AA LEAGUES INCREASED

Agreement to Be Amended to Make Price $7,500 Instead of $5,000.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Major League baseball leaders, meeting here today with Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, decided to amend the major-minor draft agreement so that $7,500 instead of $5,000 will be the price for drafting a player from the class AA leagues. This agreement, according to Ben Johnson, American League head and John Heydler, who represented the National League, will be the last concession of the majors to induce the minors to accept the draft.

The major league chiefs consented to the increase in price only after an all-day meeting, the most of which was taken up by John Conway Toole, president of the International League, and President Hickey of the American Association in explaining why their (clubs) have objected to the major leagues selecting one player annually from each club.

At the suggestion of Judge Landis, the amendment to the draft is so worded that either major league can withdraw prior to January 1, 1923. This was the only condition on which President Johnson and President Heydler would agree to the change. Both Hickey and Toole expressed a belief that the raise might satisfy their respective club owners but the matter will have to be put before these men and also before the minor league owners before it can be put into effect.

No statement was made at the close of today's meeting regarding the proposal recently submitted to Judge Landis by Al. Tearnay, president of the Western and Three Eye Leagues, the only other circuit not within the scope of the draft. Tearnay presented proposals which he said would stop the "farming out" of drafted players by the majors.

Minor league leaders said that the higher price would make the majors less anxious to draft players, a claim which would be a great advantage to the minors. The new draft price will be paid back as in the original agreement.

The new arrangement, if accepted it was stated, will include the feature agreed to by the advisory council in New York to the effect that when some of the draft, Tearnay presented proposals which he said would stop the "farming out" of drafted players by the majors.

Leslie O'Connor, secretary to Judge Landis, said tonight that President Johnson and President Heydler were both opposed to the higher price, but had agreed to give a year's trial to determine how it will operate.

HULLABALOO HAS BEEN RAISED OVER HAYS MOVIE OFFER

Senator Harrison Wants to Know Whys of the Offer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Protesting against acceptance by Postmaster General Hays of the tendered position as head of the motion picture industry, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, declared in the Senate today that if the motion picture producers "get the biggest politician in the Republican party to head that industry we must look upon it with suspicion."

Stating that he had no doubt Mr. Hays would accept the offer and retire from the cabinet, Senator Harrison said he was "fearful" that if the former Republican national chairman "becomes the head of the motion picture industry he will place a censorship upon some Democratic pictures that should be shown."

After describing the size of the motion picture business and its influence and freedom from politics up to this time, the Mississippi senator declared that should the United States Steel Corporation come to Washington and make an offer to a cabinet member at a salary equal to that reported to have been tendered Mr. Hays, to direct its affairs, and be accepted, "not only would he be appointed but the administration to which he belonged would also be condemned."

Senator Harrison referred in condemnatory terms to the offer which Judge Landis accepted from organized baseball and asked: "Why is Mr. Hays selected by the motion picture industry to accept a fabulous salary? What is the purpose of making this tender? Is it because he is close to the powers? Is it because he controls four or five hundred thousand post-offices throughout the country and the mails? Is it because he has the ear of the president of the United States and sits in the circle of the administration? Is it because he helped to elect the House representatives whose duty it is to frame tax laws and tariff measures? Is it because he played such a large part in the selection of senators who control the policy of the administration in this body?"

Senator Harrison, speaking at times facetiously, said he could not imagine that the industry sought Mr. Hays as a star to show with Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and "Fatty" Arbuckle.

"They have chosen him because they think he can do the work," he continued.

Senator Sutherland, Republican, West Virginia, suggested that former Treasury Secretary William G. McAdoo had accepted an offer from the same industry. Senator Harrison rejoined that the nature of the offer was different in that Mr. McAdoo represented three or four stars and not the whole industry, and had accepted the tender after he had severed his official connection with the cabinet.

NO NEED FOR BONDS FOR GOOD ROADS

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 7.—Judge Martin Williams, of Giles, one of the strongest advocates of good roads, declared here today that there is not now and never has been necessity for the issue of bonds for roads. He holds that there is ample funds and that no occasion exists for adding to the burdens of the tax-payers. There will be a movement early in the session of the legislature to provide a bond issue, notwithstanding that the candidates for governor repudiated that proposition. The Good Roads Association is actively at work.

SUPREME COUNCIL ASKS GERMANY TO SEND DELEGATES

Seek Consultation With Representatives Concerning Reparations Question.

CANNES, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The allied supreme council this afternoon telegraphed a communication to Berlin asking the German government to send representatives to Paris with a view to their coming to Cannes for consultation with the council concerning German reparations.

The proposal, made by Premier Lloyd George to invite the German emissaries to come to Paris and hold themselves in readiness to proceed to Cannes, was adopted after Premier Briand objected to their coming directly to Cannes. The French premier intended that it was necessary for the allies themselves to agree upon a reparations program before the Germans arrived.

The communication sent to the German government read: "The allied supreme council will doubtless have need of your representatives between the 8th and 15th of January. You may save time by sending them to Paris to await word from the council."

In introducing his proposal Mr. Lloyd George declared that the presence of German representatives at the conference had proved most useful and had resulted in an agreement which was carried out.

The work of the council slowed up today when the "thorn" question came up. Yesterday's speedy decision came up for an international financial and economic conference with the participation of Russia and Germany, and the progress made by the reparations experts this morning raised the hope for a time that there might be an early adjournment, but late in the day it became apparent that the council was not so near an agreement as were the experts.

By the council it was maintained today that there was an agreement in principle between the members of the council, but that further deliberation was necessary, after which the council would receive the experts' report and make its decision.

The council also learned, however, that an agreement providing for the payment of reparations by Germany in cash and in kind each year would be reached in a matter of days.

The council also had a deliberation on the exchange for abandoned property of the new central bank of Germany in 1922 asked the "two big powers" to put her property claim so that France can share in the payments, demanding at the same time that France ratify the August agreement whereby the first billion paid marks now in the would be the reparations commission of Great Britain and Belgium's occupation expenses to the exclusion of France.

Mr. Lloyd George also resisted all suggestions that action be taken to obtain stronger guarantees from Germany as asked by France, such as a commission on the German debt, to control customs, monopolies and tax receipts.

It was suggested in a meeting of the experts, previous to decision to invite German representatives to Cannes, that Germany be asked to send a representative here to confer with the council regarding reparations payments before any action toward further guarantees was taken.

Officials In Clash
Over Liquor Cargo
On British Vessel

WILMINGTON, N. C., Jan. 7.—The Messenger of Peace, a British two-master schooner carrying a cargo of liquor, arrived in port here late today in tow of the coast guard cutter Seminole and immediately precipitated a controversy between Collector of Customs McKaskill and State Prohibition Director Kohlness as to who shall have possession of the ship.

The dispute began as the Seminole docked with her cargo, and was carried into the customs house where a deputy United States marshal placed under arrest A. Goldman, owner of the schooner, and Benjamin Thompson, her master. Both were released when her master posted a bond and were ordered to appear next Saturday for hearing before the local United States commissioner. The charge listed against the two alleged importers, transportation and having whiskey in their possession in violation of the federal prohibition law.

Prohibition Director Kohlness said today he had not received any orders from Washington to the effect that the Messenger of Peace be given a clean slate, and that the schooner should be permitted to proceed to Nova Scotia. Kohlness said he would proceed with his investigation.

Despite over possession of the schooner began as the cutter Seminole neared her dock before the customs house. Director Kohlness approached the landing as if to jump aboard the cutter as she moved on, but was ordered by Lieutenant Hall of the Seminole to keep off. Lieutenant Hall declared he had been ordered to prevent anyone from boarding the ship, and Kohlness remained ashore.

When Collector McKaskill landed he was confronted by Kohlness who asked that the Messenger of Peace be placed under his care. Collector McKaskill refused, declaring he had been instructed to bring the schooner here from Portsmouth, N. C., and that he would retain control of the vessel until further orders. The dispute waxed warm for a time, featured by numerous sharp exchanges, but broke off when both agreed to wire headquarters in Washington for further instructions.

Director Kohlness brought on a suggestion of international complications a few moments later when he called on British Vice Consul Donald MacRae, who met the Messenger of Peace at Southport and accompanied the ship here, and inquired as to what papers the schooner carried he would be permitted to see. After a wordy clash having to do with a prohibition agent's rights under the prohibition law, Kohlness left without seeing any of the schooner's papers.

United States District Attorney Tucker is here preparing for the hearing next Saturday. It is understood the hearing Saturday will develop into a test case to determine whether a foreign ship carrying liquor is permitted under the United States prohibition laws to enter to the three mile limit of this country.

District Attorney Tucker, handling the case for the department of justice tonight declared he would have a report to make to the department regarding the arrival of the liquor ship.

FAMOUS STAR COMING

Mr. Fiske in "Wake Up, Jonathan!" At Majestic Jan. 16.

A dramatic treat is in store for appearance of Mrs. Fiske at the Majestic, Monday, Jan. 16th, in her latest success, "Wake Up, Jonathan!"

The play enjoyed a season's run at the Henry Miller theatre, New York and was rewarded by the most complimentary reviews at the hands of metropolitan critics. A few weeks ago Mrs. Fiske presented the play in Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, and there again the newspapers and audiences agreed that she has never been more brilliant than in her current vehicle.

"Wake Up, Jonathan!" differs in many respects from the type of plays in which Mrs. Fiske has been seen in recent years, being purely American, distinctly modern, a bit feminine and presenting the rare spectacle of a delightful comedy woven of serious strands.

Hatcher Hughes, lecturer on the drama at Columbia University, and Elmer L. Rice, remembered as the author of "Owen Trial," collaborated on this play, which was staged by Harrison Grey Fiske. The star is under the management of Sam H. Harris.

"Wake Up, Jonathan!" is an imaginative satire, telling the story of a hard-headed, materialistic man of business and his idealistic wife, Jonathan Blake is a millionaire who is drunk with success.

When his attempts to conduct his household on the same principles on which he operates his business, he is opposed by his wife, who finally convinces him that he is asleep and must wake up to the fact that there are

Opposition Arises to Raise in Rates

RICHMOND, Jan. 7.—Protest against the proposed increase in freight rates between Virginia and North and South Carolina ports was filed today by the state corporation commission with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The state corporation commission believes, from its study of the rates which the railroads have filed to become effective January 17, that they will, if allowed to become operative, disrupt trade relationships that have existed for many years, even the commerce of Virginia cities, elsewhere, and be an unreasonable burden upon the shippers and consignees of freight in the three states.

In its protest the state commission points out there is nothing in the recently advocated rate rates to justify the higher scale, that the increases will amount to from 15 to 40 per cent varying on different commodities and for different distances, and that there is no warrant for a general advance at this time. The federal hearing is scheduled for a public hearing in Richmond, Norfolk or Washington.

AN AGREEMENT TO ENACT BONUS BILL REACHED LAST NIGHT

Fruits of Conference Between Harding and Government Officials.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—A general agreement for the enactment of a bonus bill for former service men in the present session of Congress, it was indicated here tonight at the conclusion of a White House dinner conference tonight between President Harding and a number of cabinet representatives and members of the cabinet.

The bill, a compromise, it was understood, that the cost of the bonus will be paid, if possible, from the proceeds of the allied debts to the United States government. It was suggested that a law might be suggested by the administration for the purpose.

All the opposition reached tonight was proved to be a bluff, and subject to revision in a further canvass of sentiment among Republicans in the House and Senate.

The majority of the members determined to camp on the ice floes until the sun reappeared but on February 10, Dr. Mackay, with three others, took provisions and supplies and set out to make for land.

Seen two days later by other members Dr. Mackay did not appear to be in good condition, but he and his companions refused all offers of assistance and transportation back to the main camp.

Dr. Mackay and his companions were never seen or heard of again, though four relief vessels were sent out.

Lord Ashmore held that the reasonable inference was that Dr. Mackay died on or about February 14, 1917.

night were five senators, seven members of the House, two members of the cabinet, Attorney General Daugherty, and Secretary Weeks, and Chairman John T. Adams, of the Republican national committee. The program followed was identical with that at other White House dinners at which the general policies of the administration have been discussed since Mr. Harding assumed office.

As a prelude to the dinner tonight President Harding called to the executive offices this week several members of the Senate and also at cabinet gatherings the general situation particularly with reference to the tariff legislation, had been taken up.

SURVIVORS OF ARCTIC TRIP TELL THRILLING STORY OF HARDSHIPS

(By International News Service.)

EDINBURGH, Jan. 7.—A thrilling story of one of the survivors of the Stefansson Arctic expedition of 1913 was recently unfolded in the court of sessions at Edinburgh in connection with a petition to resume the death of its surgeon, Dr. Axel Heiberg Mackay, of Edinburgh.

Dr. Mackay, the magnesian, stated that in July, 1913, the northern party of the expedition sailed from Nome, Alaska, on the Karluk for Herschel Island.

In August the Karluk was caught in the ice floes. She drifted with the ice, and during the following winter she was carried across the Arctic Ocean.

In the following January the vessel was crushed by the ice pack and sunk sixty miles north of Herald Island. At that time the sun had not appeared above the horizon, and the party was in a desperate straits.

The majority of the members determined to camp on the ice floes until the sun reappeared but on February 10, Dr. Mackay, with three others, took provisions and supplies and set out to make for land.

Seen two days later by other members Dr. Mackay did not appear to be in good condition, but he and his companions refused all offers of assistance and transportation back to the main camp.

Lord Ashmore held that the reasonable inference was that Dr. Mackay died on or about February 14, 1917.

PRACTICAL BLACK VELVET

BY MARIAN HALL

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—With all of its loveliness, there's something tremendously practical about the black velvet gown which is not too extreme in cut.

Black velvet is a material which is easy to wear for any hour after one o'clock and the delicate gown of such a medium can easily and effectively be supplemented by the chiffon or crepe-surplice which makes it a quite proper frock for afternoon.

This Point gown is of softest velvet, hung in a gracefully full skirt, irregular as to hem line and ornamented at the side with ermine tails. The sleeve effect, so cut as to reveal a bit of white between two bands of velvet, is one which is exceptionally becoming to the arm which isn't quite lovely enough in itself. And I note that even the beauties of the stage and society seldom wear plain shoulder straps or bare the waist—there's almost invariably a line cut down.

NOT UPSET BY NEWS

MONTREAL, Jan. 7.—(Reuter.)—The news of the death of the British actor, Sir John Gielgud, had taken little notice of the proposed taking of testimony by a Canadian commission, Mrs. Anne Stirling tonight left Three Rivers for Quebec to assemble witnesses to denounce the husband in connection of his alleged affair with Fred Powers.

Philip O'Brien, one of Mrs. Stirling's attorneys here, expressed the opinion that Supreme Court Justice Moreshead's order directing Mrs. Stirling to come to the city for the taking of the evidence was sufficient to settle the matter.

BUILDS COLISEUM

Work Begun on Huge Project to Cost $800,000 and Seat 75,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—Bringing to the point of reality one of the most stupendous civic projects ever undertaken in the west, actual work of building a great Los Angeles Coliseum in Exposition Park has begun.

The signing of the final documents whereby the construction contract is to be placed in the hands of a large group of public-spirited business men of this city.

The structure will cost $800,000 and will seat at least 75,000 persons. It can be used for athletic events of all kinds, for monster pageants and spectacles and other public events.

Plans already are under way to attempt to secure for this city, as a result of the undertaking, the Olympic games, which heretofore have been held in Europe.

Consensus of all stadiums in many cities were studied before plans for the local structure were completed. As a result many novel features of construction were worked out.

Unless the local structure is completed by the time the Olympic games are held, the city will be unable to host the games.

Income Tax

Question 19—What amount of Liberty bonds can be held free from sur-tax?

Answer (1)—Five thousand dollars of principal of bonds of the second, third and fourth Liberty loans and all certificates of indebtedness and war savings certificates.

(2)—Thirty thousand dollars of 3½ per cent bonds converted at time of issue of the fourth Liberty loan.

(3)—One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars of 4 per cent and 4½ per cent Liberty bonds.

The first 3½ per cent and Victory 2½ per cent bonds are exempt from all normal and sur-tax. There is no exemption from sur-tax in case of the Victory 4½ per cent bonds.

Q. 20—Are dividends from domestic corporations subject to both normal and sur-tax?

A.—No, they are only subject to sur-tax as the corporation paying the dividend pays a normal tax on the earnings which are later distributed as dividends.

Q. 21—When can one claim exemption as head of a family?

A.—If you actually support and sustain in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with you by blood relation, marriage or adoption.

Q. 22—What does govern the personal exemption?

A.—Your marital status on the last day of the year, or the taxable period governs the exemption.

Q. 23—Are gains from gambling taxable?

A.—Yes, all gambling gains and losses are taxable. Losses from such sources are not allowable deductions.

Q. 24—Does a taxpayer have to report to the government amounts of income paid to individuals?

A.—Yes, if you pay to any person during the year salary, rent, interest, commission or other income amounting to $1,000 or more you are required to file a return of information showing the amount and the name and address of the person to whom paid. Proper forms for this return can be secured from the collector for your district.

Q. 25—What rate of depreciation can be claimed on buildings?

A.—The rate of depreciation now generally recognized by the government is 2 per cent on brick buildings and 3 per cent on frame buildings. This is annual allowance based on the cost of the building only.

This deduction can only be claimed on business or rented property and is not allowed on a residence in which a taxpayer lives. It is allowable, however, on a residence which he rents to another person.

Q. 26—John Smith conducts a hardware store. On Dec. 31, 1920, his inventory was $15,000. During the year he purchased $35,000 worth of goods and his sales for the year were $75,000. On Dec. 31, 1921, his inventory was $17,000. How do these items enter into Smith's income tax returns?

A.—The inventory at the beginning of the year, $15,000, is added to the purchase, $35,000, making $50,000, from which the inventory at the end of the year, $17,000, is deducted, leaving $33,000, which represents the cost of goods sold. This, deducted from the sales, $75,000, leaves $42,000, which is the "gross profit" from the business. In addition he can deduct his general expenses, losses, depreciation, etc., to determine his net income.

Q. 27—An individual owns an apartment house and lives in one of the apartments with his family. The apartment is heated by one furnace and owner furnishes heat, light, and janitor for the entire building. How should the apartment be valued for the owner's return?

A.—The owner must determine the value of the apartment, including heat, light, etc., is attributable to his own apartment, and the balance of such costs may be deducted from gross income as an expense. Depreciation should be apportioned in the same manner. The rental value of his own apartment need not be included in gross income, but the entire amount of rent received from the other apartments must be returned.

Q. 28—An attorney supporting a family owns an automobile used both for business and pleasure. He employs an assistant and a stenographer in his office. He pays club dues, subscribes to legal publications and books and donates to charitable organizations. How should these items be treated in his return?

A.—The part of the automobile expense apportioned to the time it is used for business is allowable as a deduction. Club dues are not allowable deductions unless a strictly business club such as a Chamber of Commerce.

Legal publications and business books as well as donations are allowable deductions.

(More specimens cases will be inserted in Conkey's fourth article in tomorrow's Bee.)

Corpse and Coffin

Ghoully Scene

For Crap Shooters

A crowd of negroes shooting dice in an undertaking establishment on Union Street thought they were perfectly safe playing their pastime game with coffins piled all around and a dead body in the rear, until police officers W. T. Kester surprised them and told them that they would have to tell their troubles to the law.

On Saturday night a telephone call was received at police headquarters stating that an officer had been sent to a rooming house on the corner of Main and Second Streets. He found a man sitting on the floor and a woman containing the negroes. The man was found to be locked. The officer did not attempt to break down the door but merely stood outside and waited for a while.

What was heard was enough to convince him that a game of dice was in progress. He stood there for about a minute and the telephone rang again. He then opened the door and went in to answer a call and as he entered the room, he found the man sitting on the floor and the woman containing the negroes. He found them sitting on their knees in the middle of the floor and picked up a dice which was lying on the floor. The man was found to be locked. The officer did not attempt to break down the door but merely stood outside and waited for a while.

WYTHEVILLE, Jan. 7.—Governor-elect E. Lee Trinkle and family are busy making preparations for the inauguration on February 1.

Mr. Trinkle is engaged with conferences here and in Richmond, regarding the personnel of his office staff and numerous more important matters. Mrs. Trinkle is making ready for the event that will carry her into the "Mansion" as the First Lady of Virginia.

Both the senator and Mrs. Trinkle when asked about their preparations this morning, said that there was nothing to tell, except that they were more or less busy with arrangements. Mr. Trinkle remarked that he was not ready to say out the preparations for the inauguration and working out the details.

Mr. Trinkle, who just returned from a business conference of three days in Richmond, will probably return Monday week for the opening of the General Assembly, as he is immersed in state matters that demand conference consideration.

Persons who will stand in the receiving line at the governor's reception, it is understood, have been chosen, but their names are withheld for the present.

The Trinkles will leave Wytheville for Richmond about January 27, it is said. The time from now until then will be taken up with finishing the preparations for the inauguration and working out the details.

Persons who will stand in the receiving line at the governor's reception, it is understood, have been chosen, but their names are withheld for the present.

The Trinkles will leave Wytheville for Richmond about January 27, it is said. The time from now until then will be taken up with finishing the preparations for the inauguration and working out the details.

Mr. Trinkle, who just returned from a business conference of three days in Richmond, will probably return Monday week for the opening of the General Assembly, as he is immersed in state matters that demand conference consideration.
